

International Conference – 21 – 24 June 2012 Psychosynthesis in the World

This International Psychosynthesis gathering was the first to be held in twelve years and as a consequence five hundred and fifty people attended.

The Sundial House Group working with The Community of Living Ethics and Meditation Mount presented a workshop entitled 'The Science of Creative Meditation'. During the 3 hours we worked experientially with over thirty people sharing the basic concepts of creative meditation and the 6 laws and principles [qualities] of everyday living which are foundational to the establishment of right human relationships through goodwill and synthesis. Time was devoted to considering these 6 natural laws and qualities as 'seed ideas'. Exchanges between individuals and groups enriched and deepened the group understanding. A guided group creative meditation on this theme led to the building of a group mandala on the Spiritual 6 pointed star of the Laws and Principles. The group energies touched and worked with were finally radiated as a blessing to the conference and out into the world.

The talks, workshops and working groups offered at this conference were rich and diverse. The common theme emerging during the event being the need for psychosynthesis to find its place of service within the new demands of these muddled and chaotic times as the current needs are great and varied.
